Once again, one has to keep in mind the journey of the baby.
It also allows and Children the rapid expansion of the brain during the early years. Any restriction of this flow can result in a back pressure that can create increased intracranial pressure.

Babies constantly give us messages when they maybe overstimulated or overw Babies that, also remember that sometimes the best therapist is not on the first few pages of your Google search or even on the internet. Craniosacral therapy is even more effective for infants when the mother is simultaneously treated.
